Dear Mrs. Harnischfeger:

It was good to hear from you.

You are right of course. I have our letter to you, dated January 18, 1973, on which there was unfortunately no follow up.

As we said then, we are greatly appreciative of your willingness to be a steward, and we are enclosing a pin with this letter, to serve as a symbol of your stewardship.

We would be grateful also if you would continue to be a steward of St. Vartan with a further contribution of $100 for this year.

With regard to the museum, I just met with Dr. Bedoukian who has been appointed director.

A plan has been approved for a new museum, and it is our hope to build it in stages, beginning in a month or so. A new show will be presented on old printed Armenian books, sometime this winter, depending on the progress of the museum.

We are most interested in the articles you have, and will be in touch.

Sincerely,

Jack Antreassian
