Efficiency improvements in the transportation system have been achieved through various means such as improving infrastructure, increasing efficiency of operations, and reducing costs.

One of the major factors in the improvement of the system is the use of modern technology.

The use of modern technology has allowed for a significant increase in the efficiency of the system.

Another important factor is the improvement of the infrastructure, which has led to a more efficient system.

The use of modern technology and
improvement of the infrastructure has led to a more efficient system.
