AUDITING COMMITTEE REPORT

Addendum #2

The Auditing Committee has reviewed the books of all but two of the church's organizations and finds them to be in order.

The two organizations whose books have not yet been audited fully are the ACYOA [Jrs. and Seniors] and Hye Club.

The Committee urges all individuals and groups using the church's facilities [that is, the sanctuary, the old meeting hall, the kitchen, the new cultural hall, Sunday School rooms and Parish residence to renew and intensify their efforts to conserve energy. The cost of utilities is one of the most rapidly increasing budget items of the church and must be brought under tighter controls.

The Committee also strongly recommends that the officials of the Armenian School pay particular attention to the prompt collection of overdue tuition bills. In addition, more effective controls should be established for the ordering of textbooks for the Armenian School to avoid unnecessary and costly duplication of materials already in stock.

And, finally, it should be noted that the Auditing Committee is concerned about the continuing waste of all forms of paper supplies in the operation of the church. Great care should be taken to conserve this resource since continued waste in this area is immediately translated into higher budget costs, and if these expenses are not covered by additional revenue, ultimately a larger deficit for the church.

Respectfully submitted,

Levon Garabedian, Blanche Manian, Dean Shahinian
