

January 13, 1975

Mr. Khoren Der Harootian
R.F.D. Rte. 9-W, Castle Road
Orangeburg P.O.
New York 10962

Dear Khoren:

It was good to hear from you and learn of the progress with your work for the Philadelphia memorial.

We remember with pleasure our last visit with you and want very much to see this sculpture, as you suggest, before it is sent off for casting. Please let us know and we will endeavor to accommodate our schedule.

We pray for your well being, May God bless you and Hermine.

Prayerfully,

Archbishop Torkom Manoogian
Primate

vb

914-359-7089

R.F.D. Rte. 9-W, Castle Road,
Orangeburg P.O
New York, 10962.

December 28, 1974.

Archbishop Torkom Manoegian,
Diocese of the Armenian Church of America,
630 Second Avenue,
New York, N.Y. 10016.

Dear Archbishop Torkom:

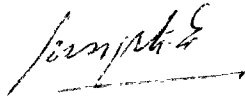

Many thanks for your kind letter and wishes for my recovery.

I was in the New York Hospital for a few days undergoing tests, and will have to go back again in a few months for an operation which will clear up the bladder disorder.

I am working continuously on my sculpture for Philadelphia. Before it goes to the foundry for casting in bronze, I would very much like you to come over for lunch or dinner and see it, if you can manage to find time from your busy schedule.

With our best wishes for the Armenian Christmas on January 6, 1975, and happiness in your wonderful work for 1975,

Sincerely,

Khoren Der Harootian.

King Arthur Detail from The Three Christian Heroes, one of the NINE HEROES TAPESTRIES
French, late XIV century

THE METROPOLITAN MUSEUM OF ART
The Cloisters Collection, Munsey Fund, 1932

1975

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a transcription of the original tapestry's text. The text is arranged in three lines and appears to be a Latin inscription.

Handwritten signature or name in a cursive script, possibly "L. M. P. S." or similar.