Primate of Armenian Diocese
630 Second Avenue
New York, N. Y. 10016

Dear Primate,

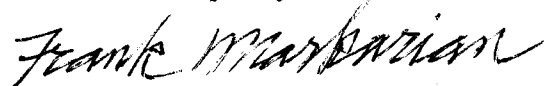

Wisconsin Congressman Les Aspin is a champion in support of Armenian Cause and interests on-and-off the Capitol Hill.

We Americans of Armenian descent owe him at least our prayerful support in his effort to retain the Chairmanship of the House Armed Services Committee in the new Congress under the control of the Democratizing Party. The congressional members of that Party will select on January 22 the Chairman of that powerful Committee.

That means we here and your staff out there ought to offer daily prayer to God to see that Congressman Aspin is once again chosen to head that very important Committee.

If nothing else, by so doing, we reciprocate in a small measure for the many good deeds he has done on our behalf and for humanity.

With due respect,

I am writing to confirm to you that our meeting with the Very Reverend Father Sooren Chinchinian unfortunately was not a fruitful one.

We warmly welcomed Hayr Soorp into our community and made every effort to make an arrangement with him.

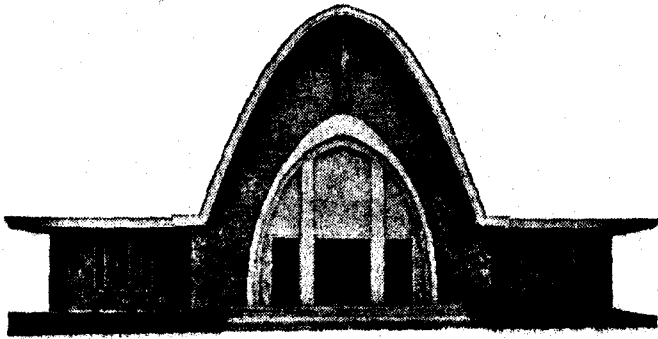

We feel that it would best benefit both parties if this matter is not pursued any further at this time.

We express our thanks to you for considering us first, and for assisting in arranging this meeting.

Dear Mr. Gissler:

Our sincere congratulations to you for the excellent and highly objective editorial, "Slain Armenians Deserve Commemoration," in the Milwaukee Journal of August 3.

The points made in the editorial are logical and valid. Rep. Jim Moody (D-Wis.) is indeed wrong in objecting to the establishment by the Congress of a "National Day of Remembrance for the Victims of the Armenian Genocide." Of particular import was the statement about the present Turkish government's "touchiness" on the issue. The Armenians have never accused the present Turkish government for the crimes of the Genocide which was perpetrated by the Ottomans in 1915-1923. What we do not understand, nor can any principled person understand, is why the Turkish government remains so intransigent in the face of historical reality. Not only has the Turk consistently refused to acknowledge that the Genocide of the Armenians took place; they are spending vast sums to re-write the Armenians out of Turkish history altogether.

The Congressional resolution should be enacted, not only to recognize the first mass murder of an entire people in the 20th century, but also to remind the world that such a thing must never happen again. Such recognition would also give encouragement to Turks to rethink their position and join the community of civilized nations in acknowledging the guilt of their Ottoman predecessors.

God's blessings to you in furthering the cause of human rights and dignity.

Prayerfully,

Archbishop Torkom Manoogian
Primate

Slain Armenians deserve commemoration

Many Wisconsin residents of Armenian extraction are angry at Rep. Jim Moody (D-Wis.) because he opposes a congressional resolution proclaiming a "National Day of Remembrance for the Victims of the Armenian Genocide." Moody's objections are principled, but his opposition to the proposal is nevertheless mistaken. The resolution ought to be approved.

Involved is one of the bloodiest chapters in history: the massacre, in the early part of this century, of Armenians in Turkey. The proposed resolution, which was defeated a year ago on a procedural vote, called on Americans to remember the 1.5 million or more "victims of the genocide perpetrated by the governments of the Ottoman Empire from 1915 to 1923 prior to the establishment of the Republic of Turkey."

Moody acknowledges and laments that thousands of Armenians perished. Indeed, he has said, "Almost no one has suffered more than the Armenians." His chief argument against the resolution is that "there remains considerable controversy among historians" about the exact circumstances of those deaths. He also asserts that Turks would regard passage of the resolution as a "gratuitous insult."

It is difficult to understand the scholars' uncertainty. Reports of the massacre of Armenians at the hands of the Turks are contained in a mountain of newspaper clippings as well as in other sources.

Henry Morgenthau, the US ambassador to Turkey from 1913 until 1916, wrote that the killings "were the working out of a well-plotted plan of wholesale extermination in which regular Turkish officials and troops took part as if in a campaign against an enemy in the field." The World Book Encyclopedia describes Turkey's "campaign to wipe out the Armenians" and notes that "by 1918, about 1,800,000 Armenians had been murdered."

Researchers may be right in saying the picture is not completely clear, but some parts of it — the parts about which Armenians grieve — are.

Equally difficult to understand is Turkey's touchiness. The current government there is not responsible for atrocities perpetrated by its Ottoman predecessors any more than the present government of Germany is responsible for the crimes of the Third Reich. Indeed, the congressional resolution carefully avoids blaming the present government in Turkey.

In 1918, Morgenthau complained that Turkish officials "resorted to the most shameful prevarications" in discussing the massacre of the Armenians. There is no good reason for present-day Turkish officials to evade the issue. Nor is there a good reason for Moody and his colleagues to delay approving this resolution.

The Very Rev. Fr. Shnork Kasparian, Pastor
Holy Shoghagat Armenian Church
400 Huntwood Road
Belleville, Illinois 62221

Dear Fr. Shnork:

In accordance with the resolution adopted by the 86th Annual Diocesan Assembly, parish priests should avail themselves at least four times a year in making pastoral visits to parishes without pastors. His Eminence Archbishop Torkom Manoogian's directive #665 of August 11, 1988 reflects on the same subject.

In view of the fact that the Holy Resurrection Armenian Church community of South Milwaukee does not have a residing priest, it is suggested by His Eminence the Primate that a schedule should be prepared by the two parish councils jointly so that you may visit South Milwaukee four Sundays a year, for the purpose of celebrating the Divine Liturgy and rendering spiritual comfort to the community members.

I am confident that your parish council will consider the Assembly's resolution and the Primate's suggestion favorably.

His Eminence further wishes that you send him a copy of the schedule of your visitations.

With prayers,

Dear Surpazan Hayr:

This letter is to confirm the conversation we have had with Very Reverend Khajag Barsamian regarding the appointment of Deacon Serop Aljalian to our parish in South Milwaukee. We have been in direct dialogue with Deacon Serop as well, and he has expressed his willingness to move to South Milwaukee.

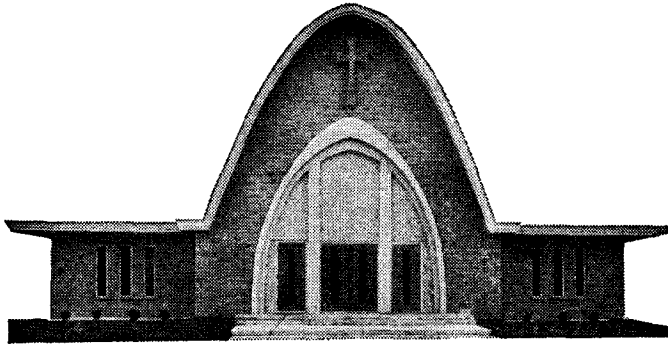

Deacon Serop was invited to our community on the March 17th weekend when he assisted Father Garabed Kochakian with Divine Liturgy at our Saturday evening service. We plan to meet with him once again to finalize his moving, the beginning date of his assignment, and the benefits that he is entitled to.

Please inform us if there are any other matters that we should be aware of in our final planning.

We look forward to a healthy union with Deacon Serop and we thank you greatly for your consideration in this. We shall await your directive relative to his appointment.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Mr. Barsamian:

It was a pleasure meeting you at the Holy Resurrection Church in South Milwaukee during my last visit there.

As we discussed during our conversation, enclosed is a guideline for the Ruben Barsamian Educational Fund which you would like to establish. You might want to show this guideline to your attorney; if you wish to make any changes or additions, please let me know about them.

I hope this will satisfy your wish for an Educational Fund to be established for Armenian students who would like to continue their higher education in the United States.

It is a wonderful way to provide deserving Armenian students with a better education in one of the colleges or universities in the United States.

I congratulate you for such thoughtful and generous foresight.

May the Lord bless you and your loved ones, always.

With prayers,

Fr. Khajag Barsamian
