Dear Avedis:

I have at long last enclosed eight pages of our Badarak book, with corrections that have to be made for the third edition.

One of our artist friends has pasted up the corrections on the relevant pages, and circled them in blue. The parts so marked must be shot and stripped in where indicated. The entire page should not be shot, since parts of them may have been cut out.

The Date and "New York" on the title page and cover should be deleted.

Finally, there are crooked lines on pages 7a, 8a, 9a, 25a, 72, 73. It would look so much better if these can be straightened out.

This has been a most useful volume for our churches everywhere, and we have only a couple of hundred copies left. You have been a blessing to our church for having done this work for us.

Prayerfully,

Archbishop Torkom Manoogian
Primate
